

Information note

Today, when applying for a permit to stay in the Federal Republic of Germany, it was brought to my attention that this visa is valid only for employment as a driver of a truck permitted to move around Russia in the framework of international cargo traffic.

I acknowledge that

- visa is allowed to be used only for the purposes of international cargo transportation as a driver of a truck registered in the Russian Federation in the name of my employer specified in my visa application

- the main country of my destination should be Germany

(and not only in transit)

-I have the right to carry out this activity in Germany on the basis of the provisions of the legislation on foreign citizens and labor law no longer than 90 days within 12 months (if the visa is issued for a shorter period of stay, it is valid), and the previous periods of stay in Germany are counted

- cargo transportation between different States of the European economic area (EEA) is allowed only if I have the original ECMT permit issued in the name of my employer.

-cargo transportation in any country of the EEA (including in the presence ECMT) will not be tolerated under any circumstances

-I myself should read the information about the current provisions of the labor and transport legislation visited by me other member States of the Schengen agreement.

I have taken note that the use of this visa for purposes other than those mentioned above may result in the cancellation and removal of the visa by the Federal border service of the Federal Republic of Germany.

(If I have the desire during the period of validity of visa to visit the Schengen countries for other purposes, I should send a petition for the grant of another visa to the appropriate foreign representation.)
